

WOMEN REPEATERS.

How Woman's Suffrage Proved a Failure in Camden, N. J.

EVERY BIG DAY IN THE "THIRD."

How the Supreme Court Has a Contested Election to decide—Women Exchanged Wraps and Were Able to Repeat Without Detection—They Will Be Prosecuted.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 22.—The untimely political reputation which Camden county, New Jersey, has acquired throughout the country in consequence of its long line of historical election repeaters is still maintained, the latest contribution being the first attempt on record at repeating by women voters. A case now pending in the Supreme Court of the State reveals that the fair sex of Camden have imbibed some of the political trickery of the sterner sex, and are quite as handy at repeating as the lords of creation.

Under a law recently enacted women living in townships are granted the right of suffrage in elections for members of the school board; but this privilege has not been exercised to any great extent heretofore.

THE HOME OF ELECTION FRAUDS.

Roanoke school district is situated in Stockton township, better known as Wrightsville, a malarial suburb of Camden, which is part of the well-known third legislative district, notorious for repeating, bribery, ballot-box stuffing and all other forms of election fraud. The organization of a legislature at Trenton devoid of the inevitable contest of the "Third" would be an unusual event. The election of a United States Senator has been decided by a contest from "the Third," and voters of both parties are schooled in the most approved methods of cheating out a majority in the absence of votes regularly cast.

At the last regular election for a member of the school board a very active canvass was made for the office by two rival factions, one of them under the leadership of Harry Seddinger, himself a member of the board and the recognized "boss" of the district. He had fixed upon F. A. Buren as a congenial companion in the board and was amazed when it was announced that R. C. Kendrick was also a candidate. He had counted on having any opposition, but Kendrick's friends began to push him vigorously for the place, and finally the women of the district, in the exercise of their legal privilege, also took a hand in the fight. The two entries in the race were thoroughly overhauled as to pedigree, and reputations were torn to shreds over a hundred back votes.

A CANVASS WHICH BROKE FRIENDSHIPS.

As the canvass progressed it became evident that both candidates were in it to the bone, the line of battle having gradually extended until the color line was obliterated, and dusky females began to wage their tongues and shake their fists at each other. The number of women voters was unusually large, and early in the day it was seen by the able leaders of the Seddinger-Buren faction that they were being snowed under by the women of the district. In the natural tendency to cheat each side itself, messengers were hastily dispatched to the Seventh ward, Camden, and the Eighth ward, of Philadelphia, for reinforcements, which were soon on the ground in the form of the gangs of negro women trained to do duty as repeaters.

THE REPEATERS WERE IMPORTED.

The voting place was so arranged that the women entered the front door of the school-house, took their places in line, and after depositing their ballots found an exit through a side door. By arrangement these bold women repeaters met an agreed place, and after exchanging slanders and bunnets, went through the form of voting a second time, and in many cases even a third. When the ballots were counted to the surprise of the Rudderow faction Buren was found to have received the most votes. A contest was at once begun before Charles Albertson, the county superintendent, Samuel W. Sparks, appearing for the contestant, and Lawyers Sparks and Seddinger, who appeared as the champions of Buren. Mr. Sparks, in support of his charge of repeating, produced over a hundred affidavits, establishing beyond any question the state of facts as above told.

A DECISION IN FAVOR OF RUDDEROW.

Under the law the County Superintendent has the power in such contests to report the facts to the State Superintendent with a recommendation. In this case Superintendent Albertson patently heard all the testimony, and after calm deliberation advised State Superintendent Chapman that the fraud had been proven, and that Rudderow was entitled to the seat. The Seddinger-Buren faction were not satisfied with this decision, and have carried the case to the Supreme Court of the State, where it is now pending. The matter has brought to the attention of the last grand jury, but that body refused to act, as the case was being considered by the Supreme court. It is likely, however, that criminal action will finally be taken against the women repeaters.

A Pickpocket Killed.

Jeter, Ill., June 22.—Joseph Hayes, one of the crowd of pickpockets from Chicago who killed here yesterday. It is said that Hayes was a shell worker; that he and four companions climbed into a farmer's wagon and that he tried to rob the man who hit him over the head knocking him off the wagon, which ran over him. An inquest was held with two of the dead man's friends as witnesses. They swore that he accidentally fell off the wagon and was killed by the wheels.

Double Tragedy at Roanoke.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22.—A special from Roanoke, Va., says that Houston O'Benchin, of that city, shot and mortally wounded H. H. Trout at Troutville, about ten miles from Roanoke, yesterday. O'Benchin accused Trout of circulating reports derogatory to his character. The murderer then went to a house close by and committed suicide. Trout was a detective. O'Benchin was a druggist.

Convicts Revolt.

CHATTANOOGA, TENN., June 22.—A special to the Times says the prisoners at Cole City, Ga., convict camp, twenty miles from Chattanooga, attempted to escape this morning and two guards and two convicts were killed in the melee which resulted.

TO CAPTURE LEGISLATORS.

How the Farmers' Alliance Societies Propose to Move This Fall.

COLUMBUS, O., June 22.—One of the officers of the Secret Farmers' Alliance of Ohio, is in the city. He says that organization is preparing to wield a heavy club over the heads of candidates for the Legislature this fall. As is well known, the secret alliance does not cut much of a figure in the third party movement. It deems it a policy more wise to exert its influence in the old parties, and the plan in contemplation is to make itself felt very forcibly among both Democratic and Republican legislative candidates. The Alliance will circulate pledges in every district to be signed by candidates. On this pledge will be inscribed the platform of principles advocated by the Alliance, beneath which will be the question, "Do you solemnly promise to advocate and vote for the principles herein set forth?" Below the question will appear the words "yes" and "no." The latter is to be erased by every candidate signing pledge, and the word "yes" will be erased by the agent circulating the pledge when any candidate refuses to sign it. The name of the candidate refusing to sign is to be attached by the Alliance agent along with the word "no." These pledges, or duplicates of them, are to be circulated in the Alliance throughout the State.

A NEWSPAPER MAN.

Identity of the Detective Shot by the Man Supposed to Be Marsh.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 22.—District Attorney Graham came from Spring Lake this morning, where he had been actively engaged in investigating the attack by a man supposed to be Marsh, the fugitive president of the Keystone bank, upon the detective known as Max Freeman. Mr. Graham said he had as yet formed no conclusion as to whether the man was Marsh or not. The detective officer from the city who went to Spring Lake on Saturday, in response to a telegram from Graham, is still there pursuing the investigation into the identity of the men who attacked Freeman. Graham, accompanied by another detective, is going to Spring Lake again this afternoon and will interrogate Tim Hurley, the stage driver who was with Freeman on Friday night, as to certain details of the affair. The identity of the injured detective was disclosed to-day. His name is T. H. Garside, at one time a well-known labor agitator, who, some years ago, conducted a strike of the Russian and Hebrew clockmakers in New York. For the past year he has been engaged in editorial work on one of the Philadelphia daily papers. His ability and acuteness became known to the government officials here, and some days ago Marshal Leeds commissioned him to look for Marsh.

MARTIN'S FERRY.

Sudden Death of a Lady—Another Death, Buggy Upset, etc.

Mrs. J. Y. Patterson has returned from a pleasant visit at Zanesville.

A party of young people will spend to-morrow picnicking at Pleasant Grove. Only one heating furnace at the Laughlin mill was on yesterday on account of repairs.

Rev. L. D. Morse, of Dayton, has accepted the call of the Baptist congregation here to become its pastor.

The Blue Grass Fishing club left yesterday for Laceyville on the Wheeling & Lake Erie road to spend the summer.

Thomas Gower has been succeeded at the Northwood glass works, as manager of the engraving department, by Charles Northwood, of England.

The Board of Equalization completed its labors at noon yesterday. Personal property was increased $26,412, new structures $22,900, making a total of $49,312.

Yesterday while out driving, in turning the corner of Hanover and Fourth streets, Mrs. Hannah Sterritt's buggy was overturned and badly used up. Miss Sterritt was thrown out, but escaped uninjured.

Mrs. J. J. Haigh, of Steubenville, who has been visiting Mrs. Richard Stewart, of the First ward, had her purse, containing her diamond earrings and considerable money, stolen from her on her return, while near Brilliant.

Miss Kate Porter, a popular young lady of this city, died at her home on Fifth street, between Walnut and Hickory, yesterday after a lingering illness. She was for several years "Central" in the telephone office, was a good Christian young lady and had many friends.

An immense crowd will go to Steubenville from Martin's Ferry on Labor Day, July 6. Local Union of Glass-workers, No. 15, the largest in this section, will go in two special cars, and accompanied by Koehnline's brass band. On each of these coaches will appear large streamers bearing the name of the union.

Messrs. Stevenson and Zimmerman, conductors on the river division of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad for many years, have been transferred to the main line, commencing yesterday. Mr. James Eberline, conductor on the Wellsville accommodation for the past ten years, who has been off duty for several months on account of illness, took his run yesterday. Jim's many friends are glad to see him on duty again.

Mrs. Margaret J. Stewart, a well known woman of Martin's Ferry, dropped dead at the family residence on West Hanover street yesterday. Mrs. Stewart, who was a large woman, after finishing her work about three o'clock, walked up stairs to take a sleep. When she reached the foot of the bed in her room she fell dead. Apoplexy was the cause. Six children survive her, namely: Mrs. Frank Shannon, of Cincinnati; Mrs. Jasper G. Holmes, of Charleston, W. Va.; Miss Kate, Charles and Robert, of Martin's Ferry, and Peter, a furniture dealer of Columbus.

Water rents will be due July 1, and must be paid before the 10th or the water will be turned off. Pay now and avoid the rush. J. S. Mitchell, Secretary.

MR. SAM'L MALOY'S CASE.

A Well Known Employee of the B. & O. Railroad Company Furnishes More Proof.

TESTIMONY EASILY VERIFIED.

Our readers have been presented from time to time with records of cases that have been relieved or cured, and the statements were made by the patients themselves. Nearly every case thus presented was considered remarkable, as they had been long sufferers from the disease and had taken every known method to effect a cure, all failing until they had tried Drs. Copeland & Bell's treatment. These statements only go to prove our claim: that our treatment is the one most successful and sure in the results.

Among the many who are employed by that stupendous corporation, the Baltimore & Ohio, at Wheeling, few are better known than Mr. Samuel Maloy. In conversation with this gentleman a few days ago, the following statement was given in regard to his health:

MR. SAMUEL MALOY, No. 81 TWENTIETH STREET.

Mr. Maloy said: "My trouble began about a year ago. My nose would stop up. My head ached. My eyes were weak. I had ringing in my ears. In fact I had a great deal of trouble in my head."

"My throat was always raw and irritated. I had pains in the chest. Sometimes spells would come over me. Night sweats came on. I always felt tired and unrefreshed and physicians told me my lungs were weak."

"My appetite was poor. What I ate did not agree with me. My bowels were irregular. I steadily lost flesh until my weight was twenty-five or thirty pounds less than in health. I felt so badly that I despaired of ever being cured. I am now feeling better in every way."

DOCTORS COPELAND & BELL have located permanent offices at 121 Main street, Wheeling, W. Va., where they treat with success all curable cases. Office hours—9 to 11 a. m., 2 to 5 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. Sundays, 9 a. m. to 12 m., and 1 to 4 p. m. Specialties—Catarrh and disease of the Eye, Ear, Throat and Lungs. Consultation free. Address all mail to DR. COPELAND & BELL, 121 Main street, Wheeling, W. Va. Treatment, including medicine, $5 a month.

BELLARE.

All Sorts of Local News and Gossip from the Glass City.

Hon. R. J. Alexander passed through here yesterday for Columbus, but will go on to Kansas City before his return.

D. L. Thoburn, who has been in attendance at a Boston theological seminary came west on his vacation, and agreeably surprised his many friends by a splendid sermon at the First M. E. church Sunday.

Six of the Pulney township bridges were let to Day & Gallagher and three others to McMillen Bros., of this city. There were a number of bidders. These are to be built on the new pikes now in course of construction.

A little Fourth ward girl complained of a lump in her stomach. A doctor was called in and after an examination it was found that she had been chewing gum and swallowing it. Some strong medicine was administered and she is now getting well.

A small child of "Decke", Robinson fell off the ferry boat, and but for the timely arrival of a man in a near-by house-boat, would have drowned. A board was brought into requisition and the little one soon safely landed and rolled over and over till the water was all out of him, and now he is, all right.

Quite an exciting time was had in Squire Mason's office yesterday morning during the trial of Sterns, the negro arrested on a charge of having two wives, the second being a white girl named Watkins, of this city. The trial disclosed nothing new, and no proof was given as to the truth of the statement, or whether the first wife was divorced or dead. To await further developments in the case, the Squire bound him over to court. Failing to give the necessary $500 bond he was taken to the city lockup, preparatory to going to jail at St. Clairsville. On his way there with the constable, he broke away and ran, when near the door. The constable followed, shooting. Sterns got into the Baltimore & Ohio west bound yards, and escaped. Up to late last night he was not apprehended again.

The Kansas Warehouse Law.

OMAHA, NEB., June 22.—The law passed by the Alliance legislature at its recent session declaring all grain elevators in Nebraska public warehouses goes into effect this week. Throughout the State Alliance organizations have purchased and built many elevators. Instead of the enormous crop to be harvested shortly being placed on the market, Alliance grain men assert it will go to the elevators and not be placed on market till prices have advanced.

"Don't Care to Eat."

It is with the greatest confidence that Hood's Sarsaparilla is recommended for loss of appetite, indigestion, sick headache, and singular troubles. This medicine gently tones the stomach, assists digestion, and makes one "real hungry." Persons in delicate health, after taking Hood's Sarsaparilla a few days, find themselves longing for and eating the plainest food with unexpected relish. 7

Surprise to All.

After using "Mother's Friend" two months I was so speedily and easily relieved that it was a surprise to those attending me. "Mother's Friend" undoubtedly lessens the pains, shortens the time and restores the mother speedily to health. Will recommend it to all expectant mothers and advise them to use it. Mrs. J. A. R.
